by

Ms Eve Wong

Date: 16 Aug 2008

(Hong Kong Satir Center is a registered charitable institute. All the Directors and Helpers work on voluntary basis.)

Aims & Objectives

- To provide opportunities for participant to access to his/ her “Self” level;
- To provide opportunities for participant to enrich relationship with his/ her “Self” and /or with “Others”;
- To let participants express their life force in the medium of arts;
- To let participants familiar with the Six steps in enriching relationship, one of the vehicles coined by Sharon Loeschen that Virginia Satir used as part of her total model for change.

Voluntary Trainer

Ms Eve Wong Bsc, MSW, PCCC(Hons)

Ms. Wong was the ex-vice president of the Hong Kong Satir Center. She had extensive trainings in Satir Systemic Individual and Family Therapy locally and from overseas. She also got a Certificate in the Foundation of Art Therapy and was the member of the consultation committee of Arts for Reintegration Therapy Project in Substance Abuse Assessment Unit at Kwai Chung Hospital. Her trainings comprised clinical attachments to various arts therapy settings in different countries.

Ms. Wong provides supervision to postgraduate students as well as practicing social workers and counselors in the field. She also trains personnel from different hospitals, universities and organizations over the last twelve years. She is currently using Satir Model as well as art and play as media to enhance the clinical social work with pediatric and adolescent patients individually, with their families and in groups.
